Treasurer Report to P&C Meeting 20/06/2022

General Business

May 2022

- ❖ Great month with many fundraising events on the go. We had great success with the Mother's Day stall, Election BBQ and the start of our Disco pre-sales.
- ❖ Mother's Day- what huge results!!! Our focus this term was to source locally and support small business, with purchases of quality, variety, and luxury. This was achieved!!
- ❖ Another winner was our Election Day bbq. The wonderful volunteers braved the cold and rain and delivered hot sizzling sausages, yummy baked goodies and plenty to drink. Thanks to all the fabulous school families who kindly donated to our bake stall
- ❖ Special mention also to our major raffle sponsor Cake-Licious for donating a $200 voucher towards any sort of cake....
- ❖ Thanks to Nicole Nicholls also for the very popular Book Fair, giving the school much needed resources in return.
- ❖ May was also a month, for stock purchases were made, in time for the anticipated Disco event
- ❖ Floats provided for events: Mother's Day stall $450, Election BBQ $200 and Book Fair $200 were issued (noting, these are cash at hand, however noting for transparency purposes)

- Book fair

School Hall

The hall construction is almost up for tender. I am a tiny bit concerned that we chopped out a few things to offset the cost of the timber floors, and the timber floors are at risk. If it comes to that, I may need some phone calls made to our local state member but stay tuned. We are still expecting completion in October or November next year.

Today we had a Police Incident outside the Senior Campus.

The admin team handled the situation well and managed to keep it outside the gates, children safe, and easily handed over to the police. We have reached out to the students that could see the incident from their classroom, and I have emailed parents to let them know how to reach out for support as well.

Other Events

We hosted a very successful Athletics Carnival for both campuses last week. Thank goodness the weather held up for us and we were able to have something in its entirety, with no cancellations!

My big one for today is around the restorative justice training that we went to.

Tristan, Kylie, Elliott, Stuart, Trent, Amy and myself spent two days in the city listening to and brainstorming with Adam Voigt.

Adam is a guru on helping shift culture toward a restorative process, helping children discover that they can make things right when they've done something wrong. We sat afterwards and agreed that we all wanted to do something different. We met again with Adam a few days later for a quick check-in to see how we could work together.

We need to sit together again just to confirm that we are on board. It is a piece of work that requires 100% commitment. It is a three-year journey that we need to commit to.

- We work with Adam's team to shift thinking amongst our staff, students and eventually parents.
- We work on language that needs to change.
- We work on a practice that needs to change.
- We work on policy that needs to change.

The concepts were all common sense, and often how many of you would actually parent your children that don't get along. We have a culture shift to influence 200 staff, 1050 students and several hundred families. We need to influence families and many Teachers to accept that how you probably handle your children at home, can work in a school setting as well.

Children can usually identify what they need to do to make things right with the proper scaffolding. Detective standard investigations and super long suspensions aren't overly productive in changing behaviours or increasing the levels of respect that our children have.

It will be an interesting journey, but one I personally think that we need to take. Thank you to the parents involved in the original conversations leading to this work.

Are there any questions about my report?

SCHOOL PROGRAMS

Students from across the state are creating innovative ways to improve how they treat plastic waste and become more sustainable at school

Students from Pacific Lutheran College on the Sunshine Coast have been cleaning up their local beach as part of their involvement in Wave of Change. Their work to find creative solutions for recycling at their school led them to receive a highly commended award in our 2021 program.

Getting involved is easy

To implement Wave of Change at your school, we will help you through our simple step set-up process:

1 Expression of Interest received

2 Registration form provided

3 Registration form completed

4 Plastic Oceans curriculum set up

5 School site visit and bin infrastructure drop off

6 Launch and collections begin

For any questions or enquires on Wave of Change, please contact waveofchange@containersforchange.com.au.

9.00am - 10.00am	Recruiting and retaining volunteers Volunteer recruitment and retention are key challenges facing many organisations including P&C Associations. This session will discuss strategies to effectively recruit volunteers, how to transition volunteers to higher levels of engagement, and key factors that lead to volunteer retention. The session will also explore how culture influences volunteering. Presenter: Dr Sheranne Fairley, Associate Professor, University of Queensland - Business School	Choose your HR adventure! Discuss the HR hot topics that you want to hear about. Whether it be recruitment, penalties and overtime, the difference between casual and part-time employees, how to manage poor performance or termination procedures – you have the power to determine the workshop content. The topics presented will be based on participant choices prior to the workshop, so vote now visiting menti.com/nkqbk38zy. Presenter: Melissa Moulton, HR Support Service Manager, P&Cs Qld	Exploring events: Markets and fetes Hear about how fellow P&Cs have organised their large-scale fundraising events. This session will explore the planning, communications, execution and funding aspects of organising a market and delivering a fete.	Your role in cyber safety Former undercover internet detective, Brett Lee will show parents that it is not about devices or programs, it is about applying your physical world mindsets and skills to your child's online world. Leave the session feeling empowered to take control of technology and set rules and boundaries at home to be cyber safe. Presenter: Brett Lee, Former Undercover Internet Detective & Founder, Internet Safe Education
10.00am – 10.30am	Morning Tea
10.30am - 11.30am	Panel session: Building strong relationships between principals, school leaders and P&Cs This session will explore the importance of and how to develop strong working relationships built on trust, open communication, shared values and respect between Principals and P&Cs. Panellists: Pat Murphy, President, Queensland Association of State School Principals (QASSP); Ric Day, President, Queensland Association of Special Education Leaders (QASEL) Facilitator: Matthew Rowan, Board President & Chair, P&Cs Qld	Understanding insurance This interactive session explains insurance in basic terms and will be heavily focused on Q&A. Delegates will discover the history, development and importance of the P&Cs Qld Affiliates Insurance Package, coverage options, common activities, challenges, touchpoints of claims, and emerging risks and industry trends. Presenter: Debbie Youngs, Qld Affinity Manager, Marsh Advantage Insurance; Peter O'Leary, Vice President – Relationship Management & Marketing, Liberty Speciality Markets	The start of a beautiful relationship – the science of growing supporter love The start of a supporter relationship will always involve transactions, be they financial or non-financial, but that doesn't mean we have to be transactional in our engagement. We can start with the end in mind – growing supporter love. This session will introduce a range of behavioural and relationship theory principles; look at research and real-world case studies and campaigns from a range of not-for-profits, big and small and explore practical applications for finding and engaging new donors, in a way that sets up an intimate, authentic relationship. It's the perfect balance of head and heart – understanding the science of love and how it can lead to better outcomes for you, your supporters and your fundraising. Presenter: Andrew Martin, Lead Strategist & Co-Founder, The Fundraising Agency Sponsored by Australian Fundraising	Behaviour is just the tip of the iceberg We know that behaviour is a way for children (and adults) to communicate. When trying to interpret this sometimes very foreign language, we need to remember that behaviour is just the tip of the iceberg. To really understand the iceberg concept of behaviour, we not only need to look at what is above and beneath the water, we must determine what is happening in the water that the iceberg is floating in. Kimberly will discuss behaviours (tip of iceberg) and emotions (beneath the water iceberg), along with providing an interactive exchange to examine what is in the water, from your children's perspective but importantly, how is the parent unknowingly contributing to the pollution and temperature of this water and what can we do about it. Presenter: Kimberly Harper, Parentline Manager, yourtown

2.45pm – 3.30pm	Share the Dignity When Rochelle Courtenay first learnt of homeless women going without basic sanitary items during their menstrual cycle, she decided the question was not, "why is no one doing anything" but rather, "what's stopping me from doing something?" In 2015, Rochelle took matters into her own hands by collecting sanitary items with her local community and distributing these to local shelters. As a result, Share the Dignity was created and has grown to a national charity with over 5,500 volunteers Australia wide, delivering multiple initiatives aimed at giving dignity to women. Presenter: Rochelle Courtenay, Founder, Share the Dignity
